

The facilities, built for use during the Central American Games, consist of three large rooms located near the Los Proceres Museum, with exit access to an athletic track field. The facilities cannot be seen in the current picture because they were built less than a year ago and Google Map has not updated it yet.

